In general, I have received very good response from Representative Urban (she called last night very pleased), CPCA Lobbyist Carroll Hughes, and the other Police Chief (Matt Reed) that testified. It looks like the bill is on the move. I guess the down side to this is that the Day has made an FOI request for the release of the incident report. In reading the article this morning, I got the flavor that they were upset that they did not know about this; hence, the FOI request and not the phone call. I will be speaking with Leanne Masterjoseph today and also the Town Attorney on what can be released. Anyways, the word is out and we got incredible TV new media coverage with a strong message to parents and kids that there is no place for these near a school and that the markings should not be removed that delineate them as fakes. Chief,

Thanks for the update. Release of some information may make this more real for those critical and further emphasize the importance of this legislation. Is it possible The Day would compromise on what they are asking for or are we too far along at this point?
